

FreeWorld Partnership Overview

What is FreeWorld?

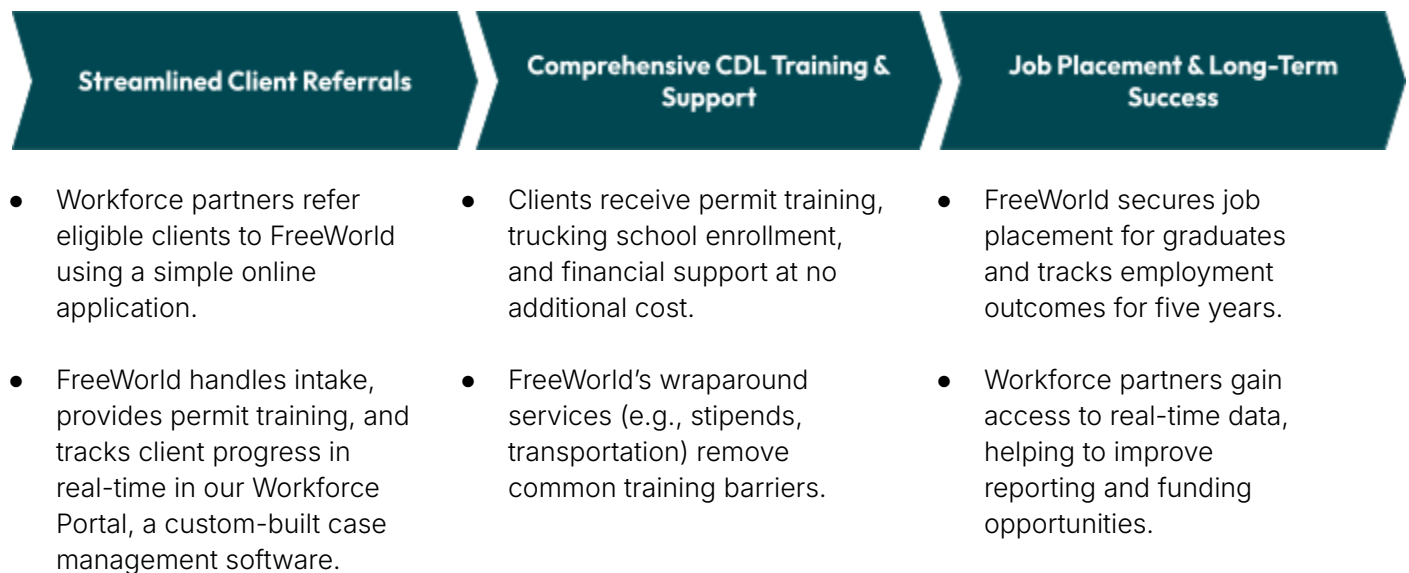

FreeWorld is a tech nonprofit that aims to end generational poverty and recidivism for returning citizens through economic mobility. Today, we train and place returning citizens in living wage careers in the trucking industry.

Why does FreeWorld want to partner with you?

To reach the next level of scale, FreeWorld is committed to investing philanthropic capital and developing technology designed explicitly for workforce partnerships nationwide. We aim to create technology that simplifies the process of supporting returning citizens, helps workforce partners (WFPs) support more returning citizens by reducing their costs per client, and collects data that provides valuable insights into our collective long-term impact.

By forging workforce partnerships and co-investing in returning citizens to achieve high performance, we can collectively serve more people more efficiently and effectively. FreeWorld believes partnering with WFPs will help us achieve our mission faster.
